ADMINISTRATIVE VARIANCE PROCEDURES

Building site setbacks and other property development standards are defined by the Zoning Ordinance. A request for an administrative variance is a request to modify these development standards and requirements for a particular lot or parcel under special circumstances only. These special circumstances relate to the applicant's property not the person. Examples of special circumstances are extreme topographic conditions such as a property that has a steep grade which makes a part of the site unbuildable, or adhering to the setback requirements would cause an unnecessary destruction of significant vegetation. An administrative variance cannot grant a modification that exceeds 50% of the required minimum yard and under no circumstance shall a yard be less than five feet.

An administrative variance may be granted only where there are special circumstances applicable to the subject property. A personal hardship does not justify a variance. A variance is not granted for a hardship which has been intentionally created. The need for an "adequate financial return" is not a legitimate reason for a variance. Please note that because a person applies for an administrative variance does not necessarily mean the administrative variance will be approved. The request for an administrative variance must meet the special circumstances for granting an administrative variance while preserving the general intent and purposes of the Zoning Ordinance. It is recommended that you discuss your request with Gila County Staff before you apply.

To apply for an administrative variance the following need to be submitted:

1. A non-refundable application fee of $50.00.
2. A completed application form.
3. A reproducible 8½" x 11" to scale plot plan containing the items outlined on the application form. (See attached example plot plan)

The decision to approve or deny an administrative variance is made by the Community Development Director or Deputy Director after a Gila County Building Inspector inspects the property and reports their findings. Notice of the decision of the Director or Deputy Director shall be sent by certified mail to the applicant and owners of adjacent property. An appeal of an administrative variance must be filed in writing, stating the grounds for the appeal, at the Gila County Community Development office. An appeal must be submitted within 15 days following the date of mailing of the notice of the decision, and must be accompanied with the $75 non-refundable fee. The decision of the Director or Deputy Director shall become effective at the expiration of the fifteen-day appeal period, provided that no appeals have been filed. If the administrative variance is granted and no appeals have been filed, the applicant may apply for a building permit.
